Hi Sheila & Katy,

Sheila, I do not have a copy of Goodwill's June invoice (Katy, I am going to combine this with our projected budget to the end of 2012 for the budget Sheila created). Can I get a copy from you?

Katy- for the strategic planning. There is nothing in Goodwill's budget about strategic planning. They do have $4500 for travel/conferences and $1600 for staff training, but neither of those items are on the earmark. Please advise.

Thanks!
Maria

As promised I did the math to figure out the budget modification for the Back on Track earmark. If you guys could please fill in the highlighted calculations for Goodwill's subcontract so that it matches the new amount, and write the cover memo explaining why we are doing this, we will be ready to upload.

Katy, I recall that you had wanted to keep some money for strategic planning. If that is still the case, let's run that thru Goodwill because we don't have time to do a contract with a consultant ourselves at this point.

Hi Katy,

Liz called me to check in about this. As per previous communications, we decided that she didn't need to attend this meeting, whenever it should happen.

I suggest we wait to see if Ranon comes back on Monday, and if not, we schedule the meeting (or I can do it alone).

What do you think?

Hi all,
I've finalize the video. Main changes are color grading and audio adjustments. I didn't make to make changes content-wise since people seem happy with the content so far. Duration has been trimmed down to 8:30. Let me know if anything else is needed. If everything is okay, I'll mail out two master copies to you guys at 1500 Mission this week.

Hi Katy,

I was just in the process of crafting a message to our funders, and you beat me to the punch. Please see message below:

I am writing to update you on some staffing changes here at Goodwill. As of July 10th, Nan Cramer, Grants Specialist and Herbert Lee, Grants Accountant are no longer with Goodwill. We wish them all the best and, at the same time, want to ensure that there is no gap in service to our funders. Therefore, moving forward, you will be supported by the following Goodwill team members:

For invoicing and billing questions, your primary contact is Tam To, Sr. Finance Director. She can be reached at tto@sfgoodwill.org or via phone at 415-575-2111.

For contract and budget development work, your primary contact will be me. You can reach me at mkenny@sfgoodwill.org or via phone at 415-575-2136.

Our program team leads of David Walker and Joanna Hernandez will continue to work with you on program related items.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks,
Megan

Hi Nan and Megan,
I'm looking at the budget once final time as I prep the grant agreement docs and have a question and potentially a request:

Question: how are the rest of Isabel and Sonia's salaries covered? Are they through FSA or other sources? They're both full time on BOT, right?

If they are not fully covered by other sources, it seems to me we could reduce the following items and put more money toward the CJS time:

1. $4500 travel & conference fees (as opposed to local travel, which is budgeted separately) 2. $3400 office supplies 3. $4000 printing/reproduction

Let me know what you think.

Thanks,

Katy

Subject: RE: Estimated rollover

Hi, Katy.

I will get you a good number by the end of the day today, I hope. Joanna said she could get me her program projections this afternoon. She was able to say off the top of her head that the video expenses (including stipends for participants) may come in at $10-$15K, she'll also have other stipend and this Thursday's graduation costs, so it may not be as much as we thought left over of the ~$23K in program expenses.

The salary remainder should be about $9500. Marie Claire left for a while, then came back, so there were savings while she was out.

I'll follow up again ASAP. Thanks! Nan

Hi Nan,

As a follow up to our conversation yesterday, would you please give me your best estimate re: how much funding in the current grant you expect to rollover into the next fiscal year?

Thanks!

Ranon, It was wonderful to meet you today, it's always great to put faces to names.

To follow up on a couple administrative matters we talked about where Katy & Sheila's names came up:

- 1) A renewed/extended contract for 12-13: the current BOT grant is indeed ending June 30, 2012. Assuming the project is continuing after June 30...I imagine this means we should get cracking on renewing the scope and building a budget! Please advise on next steps to start this process.
- 2) The HCAO Waiver request process. This is the waiver we need to request with each new contract to affirm that as a non-profit, Goodwill is indeed exempt from HCAO compliance. Unfortunately getting the waiver attached to our contract is an extra process instead of our contract being automatically exempt by nature of our non-profit status. As we discussed, I'm not sure that when we submitted our waiver request last year it went through all the right steps and got final approval from OLSE. Our HR office and I are here to help facilitate this process, more to follow as we get there. I've attached a draft version of the request that we can finalize once we have the information regarding a new/extended contract, we can hold on this for now. If we need more review on this matter, I'm happy to field questions.

I hope you have a great evening, and take care of yourself!

Warm regards, Nan

For George Gascon:

1. What is Back on Track and how does it work? Please include the public/private partners involved.
2. What do the participant get out of this? What would have been the alternatives for them?
3. What is value of having their case dismissed and their records sealed?
4. What is restorative justice and what is the value of Back on Track to the individuals and community?
5. Are there any measurable success (e.g. statistics on crime rates, repeat offenders, etc) from Back on Track and what do you hope other regions get out of this video?

Hello, Ranon & Katy. I was just writing to follow up on this e-mail about an amended contract, then checked and found that our existing contract already includes the earmark. I was confused because Lauren asked us to budget for only the $186K at the beginning of the contract. Sorry if I caused any confusion.

Dear Colleagues,

It is with deep regret that I share with you that after almost 35 years, P/PV will cease operations—on or about July 31, 2012. Our board has concluded that P/PV is not sustainable, given current economic conditions and funding trends.

It has been the highest privilege for me to lead this organization since 2010, but it is also among my greatest sorrows that we are making this difficult decision.

P/PV has worked hard for more than a year to chart a new, sustainable path forward. We enjoyed generous core support from several private funders and made difficult staff cuts. But we have recently concluded that changing trends in evaluation, as well as resource constraints among both public and private funders, will not allow us to remain competitive as a small, mission-focused agency. That has led to the decision to cease operations.

Our team has begun the process of winding down the organization responsibly. This means completing as many projects as possible by July 31, transferring others to suitable organizations that can finish the work, and fulfilling our obligations to funders and program partners. Just as important, we are working closely with our employees to help them make the transition to new opportunities.

P/PV will leave a rich legacy and body of work. From our groundbreaking research on Big Brothers Big Sisters to our role in the replication of the Nurse-Family Partnership, we have had a clear and consistent focus on partnering with organizations that provide critical services to youth and young adults living in high-poverty communities. We care deeply about how research can strengthen on-the-ground programs for young people. Over the years, our work has helped grow important fields of practice. P/PV's research on mentoring, our pioneering work in prisoner reentry and our recent studies of sectoral employment programs are just a few examples of our influence on the country's landscape of social programs and policies.

One of our objectives in the coming months will be to identify a home for our extraordinary body of work. Our publications are a distinctive and valued asset—we take great pride in them, and in knowing that they are used widely by practitioners, researchers and policymakers.

We will also use these coming months to finish several new publications that are in development, and to share some further reflections about the social sector. What are the central challenges that social programs face? What is the role of intermediary organizations in such a resource-constrained environment? How can funders and providers work together more effectively to ensure that programs draw upon sound evidence and data, and then manage their performance to achieve better outcomes?

P/PV will end operations with immense gratitude for the exceptional people who have given their intellect, energy and time to this institution. The extended family of current and former staff, board members and partners is a truly remarkable assemblage, and I know and trust that they will carry forward P/PV's mission, values and legacy to meet the continued and vital needs of America's youth.

Sincerely,
Nadya K. Shmavonian

We still have $25,637 in encumbered (DPDA11000078) funds with Pacific News Service. The initial encumbrance was for BOT graduate services in August of 2010. Sheila says that their grant should be up. I just want to be absolutely sure that's the case before we close this.

OK, here goes:

I checked their contract to see what's in their budget, and what I see is a line item called Client Services Fees for $10K. The vouchers could easily come out of this line item. They also fall in line with the CalGRIP allocation which is for Client Services.

Lauren's budget detail, below, was rolled up into higher level categories for the budget modification. Therefore, there is no line item called Stipends. Bottom line, I do not see a need for a Goodwill to modify their budget to make these expenditures.

As always, they need to keep good records as to who received the vouchers, especially since if they (program staff) are buying vouchers from their own organization.....

We have not yet encumbered the $21K, since we have not yet received a budget for how it will be spent.

I have attached their latest budget breakdown from the December invoice for your reference.

For the federal grant, the approved modification to GW is as follows (has the $21K of these funds been encumbered for the GW contract?). I don't think you will need to do a federal modification if GW wants to shift the way it uses the below money, but maybe check with Sheila on that front too?

Subject: Preliminary Approval of BOT participants supportive services request

Greetings, Ranon & Katy.

As you may be aware, BOT has a new partnership with City College to provide BOT participants with professional makeovers. For this project, Joanna is planning to spend approximately $4000 on Goodwill vouchers & Ross Gift Cards. Joanna is hoping to generating the check requests in the next couple weeks.

We have money for this in our budget, but should do a budget revision creating a line item that's more clearly for supportive services such as this than the stipends line. You may also know we're working to determine how we'll incorporate the additional ~$21K in earmarks funds into the project & budget. I hope to be accomplishing that addition/revision in the next couple weeks. In the meantime, until we can carve out a line item specifically for costs such as the BOT/City College partnership, can we please request provisional permission to move forward with the purchases referenced above?

Please let us know. Thanks! Nan & Joanna

Thanks. Lb. I am. Are you still locked in for your time on Feb. 1st @ 9:30am. Will you have Chief Still there to meet with the folks as well? By the way there is no more Re-entry/Parole Court according to Lisa Lightman so we can extend the time frame to include time with Chief Still. Can you confirm her attendance in window of 9:30 to 11am?

Thanks Katy.

Looks great. Ranon, use the hard cover we used for the NBPA conference, with DA GG's sticker on it. Also, before printing this, go through and make sure the spacing is correct. It should be 12 pages. Thanks, L
